DECEMBER FIELD DAY: WHITE HILLS:

AFDO, wife and son arrived at Lofty's about 10 a.m. and in company with George and family, Eric and Hewie, Lofty, May & Vic (May's brother), headed south to be joined at the Rockingham Road, South West Coastal Highway, by Tony Smith and family. Looking something like a four wheel drive convention, our convoy arrived at the appointed sign on place and was greeted by Bill Utting and Jim Strong who had already decided to fish the second fence area. Upon arrival of Basil Marsh and members of the Northern Districts Angling Club, it was decided the area could become a little populous for our requirements so we retraced our tracks intending to fish Preston. On the way back to the main road we noticed George wasn't following so we stopped to wait just short of the highway. After 15 minutes or so George drove up from the beach, whilst FDO and Tony arrived from the opposite direction.

Upon signing on it was discovered that George's slow return was caused by a short from a battery malfunction incurred when the vehicle was last serviced. This mishap rendered the vehicle unreliable for the trip ahead, so, escorted by Lofty, George headed for the nearest Datsun dealer he could find in Mandurah.

The rest of us travelled south to Preston. After driving 4 miles or so along the beach we stopped and agreed that this spot looked as good as any. Hiking through a cutting in the sandhills we discovered to our delight a large flat protected area about as big as a footy oval- ideal for camping. While we awaited George and Lofty's return, we had lunch, then Tony collected driftwood for a fire, while the kids had a ball on the beachfront. With the arrival of George and Lofty, a tennis ball was produced from somewhere, a crude bat was fashioned out of driftwood, three rod tubes were hammered into the sand and thus began an impromptu game of cricket for the next half-hour.

Following many hits- and misses (or missus) and dropped catches by the mid-wicket and mid-on fieldsmen, Hew and Griffiths, it was decided to erect sleeping quarters and ready our fishing gear. About then, our band of merry men (and women) was swelled by the arrival of Mal Thompson and Trevor Stam.

By 9 p.m. with few fish to show for the effort, we'd all had enough and so got down to cooking our steaks and drinking our chosen brew. It was the most pleasant evening I've ever experienced on a field day, with the warmth of a blazing campfire to dispel any draughts, we all proceeded to eat, drink and be very merry- what with celebrating George's birthday, skylarking and telling yeams, we had a sort of early Christmas party.

Around 11 p.m. we all retired (May needed a little help to climb the ladder on Lofty's Rover). Next morning after a couple of hours fishing, AFDO, George and family decided to head for the weigh-in, the others deciding the serenity of the morning calm was too beautiful to be disturbed and so, fished on.

After the weigh-in we all met at Mandurah and on the southern bank of the inlet, near the bridge, had a picnic.

Bags of fish were light on at the weigh-in, with Tony Richardson 5.55kgs Stan Renshaw 5.2 and Bill Utting 4.00, doing best. However, the success of this weekend we couldn't measure in kilograms rather in terms of friendship, a far more enduring pursuit.

KALBARRI HOUSE FACELIFT:

We all gathered at Bob Frederick's place on Friday at about 7.30p.m. Brian Leicester and Dave Latto travelled with Bob, whose Holden Station Wagon towed a trailer, both laden with the painting gear. Hewie, Trevor and I travelled in Ric Parker's Landrover, also towing a trailer and carrying the personal gear of the boys, plus rods.

Ric's vehicle arrived at the GinGin turn off and knowing Bob was behind us we waited. And waited. Twenty minutes or so later Bob showed up with the news that he had a cracked distributor cap! His vehicle was capable of travelling so we pressed on hoping to pick up a spare at Cataby. We were in luck, they had one they let Bob have for $2.00.

Refreshed with various eats we shoved off for Geraldton where we were to pick up a fridge. We found Dennis' friends place o.k. but Bob's car was playing up again. Still at 2.30 a.m. in Geraldton we couldn't do much about it. With quiet grunts and groans we put the fridge in Ric's trailer. I had been driving the Landrover since Dongara and suddenly realised that with a fridge standing up in the trailer I would have to watch it. So it was easy on the sharp bends and very easy on the corners for the rest of the trip. Bob travelled behind us to keep an eye open but Ric's roping did the trick and the fridge didn't budge.

We crested the last hill just before 5 a.m. and the usual breathtaking view of Kalbarri lay before us. With little, if any sleep and a long drive I was thinking of a couple of hours sleep before we started work. Little did I know. We found the house o.k. and immediately started work! Our cook supreme, Hewie, got to work on a big breakfast while the labourers, Ric, Trevor and I helped our three professionals; Bob, Brian & Dave.

The breakfast was tremendous and gave us new spirit; although I think it was still largely willpower pushing us along. By 8.30 a.m., Bob had grinded the rubbish off the fascia and the windows had been masked. Fifteen minutes later the whole outside of the house had been sprayed! Bob's machine was a marvel and it needed four of us to re-rig the scaffolding as he moved around the house. Were we running, and by this time it was getting very hot.

Bob took time out to get his car to the garage to check it out. $22.00 later he was told there was nothing wrong with it!

As the morning wore on, we worked on, and it got hotter and hotter. Our meagre supply of cold drinks, of both kinds, quickly went down. The call went out for more supplies.

Brian and Dave had concentrated on the inside, spackling the walls, which took some time, and then sorting out the paint jobs. Bob gradually released the 'labourers' to help on painting the insides. It was just as well it was undercoats, their techniques drew caustic comments.

Hewie came to the rescue with a beautiful salad with chicken and ham for lunch. After a few minutes of dazed relaxation we started again. Ric, Hewie, Trevor and I dug in and cut the corrugated asbestos to fill the space between the bottom of the house and the gravel. We needed someone to crawl under the house to fill in earth behind the asbestos. Trevor was the thinnest of the group so he elected himself for the job. Fighting the spiders and dust, Trevor worked without a murmur. Dedication was needed and not found wanting.

It was time for the scaffold merry-go-round again, with Bob calling the tune. Wham! The house was suddenly sprayed again. Then more inside painting for our 'labourers'. Bob stayed out in the stinking hot sun and painted the fascia. It was a wonder he didn't evaporate. By 4.00 p.m. we had gradually ground to a halt. It was time for a quick snack and a beer.

About 5.00 p.m. we headed off to the Cutting to decimate the fish. There were a few people there but we fitted in as best we could. Within a few casts Hewie had a tailor about 1 lb. Before sundown there were isolated runs where a few tailor were picked up. As soon as the sun went down the tailor came on the bite. We all caught a feed bar poor old Bob who had taken his car back to investigate another possible source of the trouble. It turned out that a piece of wood was blocking one of his carburettors. He was soon seen right for fish. We knocked off fishing at 8.00 p.m. and went back for some of Hewie's soup. At last it was sack time! Even though our various sound machines were performing in their sleep I think they had little effect.

Just after 6.00 a.m. we were up to continue the painting. Since the outside was finished, Bob proceeded to rip into putting a second coat on one of the rooms. We heard a yell. Bob had a blue steak heading in a vital direction. It was into the shower and with the new overalls, no doubt being saved for a more auspicious occasion.

The painting done we bricked up the front steps and did a few small maintenance jobs. Hewie did the trick with a big breakfast to help us find the energy.

The house looks a picture now. Dave Latto obliged with some signwriting of the lot number on the meter box. This stands out and nicely sets off the colour scheme. There will be some photos at the next meeting which I hope will convey the impression we now have of the house. This is a tremendous investment by the Club as well as providing holiday accommodation for the members. Maintenance work will always be needed, although less so the more we do now.

The house will not be let until some new floor coverings for two of the rooms is laid. This is an urgent requirement. We need to avail ourselves of the skills of the members. Without Bob's expertise and equipment and the expertise of Brian and Dave, the weekend would never have happened. It is up to all of us to get behind this project and turn it into a solid, paying proposition. Although we worked hard, we had a great time and caught fish.

DECEMBER CAST:

For the first time in ages we were greeted with fine warm and much more conducive conditions for drycasting. After the last few casts, Eric and I have pondered the derivation of the term drycasting. Anyway, 17 stalwarts reported eager to compete.

As usual, competition amongst the big guns was keen with George just pipping "Ike" Green for the day, and faring a little worse than usual Brian Leicester and Hewie, both of whom had lapses in accuracy to blame for this. The day winner was a bolter, at 100/1 from out of the pack with a blistering burst of accuracy- "Dynamo" Jimmy Strong. If ever an example of club spirit was sought, one need look no further than this little guy. With unswerving loyalty to the club as his motivation he plugs away, always happy just to participate, with the result- biggest scale fish on a field day and then drycasting day winner. One only needs an ounce of this indomitable attitude from every member and our clubs stature and future will be assured.

Anyhow, jumping off the soapbox, it was an inspired piece of accuracy casting which won it for Jim. He scored 64 in the D/H Accuracy- an average of 16!

Not far behind him was ADCO with 57, who incidentally (pardon the bragging) would have come a fairly close second if he had not broken off in the L/L event.

In the L/L distance the title of best scorer was at last wrested from the oriental pocket battleship by two gents called Leicester and Parker with 36 apiece.

The S/H accuracy was a pushover for smooth talking social organiser, Brian Leicester with 27.

The longest cast of the day was a booming 129 metres put down by our "ambling alp" D.C.O. Ric Parker.

The Day Winner was, as I mentioned previously, Jim Strong with 114 pts. Junior Day Winner was Robert Ingram with 90 pts. A single handed open event was staged, the results of which can be seen elsewhere in this publication.

Next cast is scheduled for January 2nd- can we please have more than 17 this time?

Eric and Joan

CHRISTMAS SOCIAL:

Everything was set, including the weather for our second Christmas get-together at Darryl's. This year we were organised with an extra keg, which proved necessary as the first lasted only 3-3½ hours. Most people had arrived by 5.30 and Father Xmas made his appearance soon after. We, the grown-ups, seem to lose sight of what Christmas is all about, but we were pleasantly reminded when we witnessed the children rushing to 'Father Christmas' side to get a touch of his uniform. Their eyes jumped with excitement and seemed to tell the whole story as Father Christmas handed them their lollies and presents.

Soon after the retreat of P.O., and several more beers under the lolls of the gents, they took to the pool for their annual ball game. I would however like to say at this point, in future, that more care be taken or someone will undoubtedly receive a very serious injury. Eric (Ray) Parker received a nasty blow on the head and had to be assisted from the pool. "Good thing you were hit on the head Ric, as anywhere else may have hurt you".

A raffle was conducted throughout the afternoon and the winner, May Griffiths, received a beautifully made piece of 'Marrome' which was once again made and donated by Lois Kildahl; thanks Lois for your support throughout the year. The second prize was a floral arrangement of ribbon roses which was MADE, DONATED and WON by Fran Leicester. She immediately asked for it to be redrawn and it was eventually won by Grant Singleton. Thanks Fran for your donation. The raffle realized $37.55 profit, and to Christine Green a big thanks for selling the tickets.

The orange drink which was enjoyed throughout the day was donated by Bill Morrow, who incidently was unable to attend because of a previous engagement. Bill donated 16 litres of Sunny Caruse; thanks Bill for your support.

You may have seen several small girls searching the grounds surrounding the pool for small pieces of paper; well, they were looking for a piece with the writing on it saying "YOU ARE THE WINNER". Jim Strong handed us several embroidery sets earlier and asked us to do what I could with them. I hope that met with your approval Jim. May and Lofly Griffiths did it once more and bought with them a tray of cakes and a large bar of stick lollies which even one seemed to enjoy. Thanks May and Lofly. The cigarettes and cigars handed out during the evening were with the compliments of the ever trusty Trevor Stone. You see, you members who are reading this write-up and did not attend, this great day, see what you missed.

The thing that makes me happy is the amount of new faces in attendance this year, we hope you enjoyed yourselves and will attend again next year.

Finally, I would like to thank those people who helped with the setting up on the Saturday morning, without this help the day may not have been a success.

We the Social Committee, wish all members and their families a very Happy New Year and look forward to your support next year, 1977.
